GOVERNOR

Holding Government Accountable

Transparency reduces government waste, makes it accountable to the people, and helps keep bureaucrats honest.

My number one priority in Congress has been constituent service. My congressional office has helped thousands of Idahoans each year. Government should always be held accountable to their citizens for promises made.

I have also supported greater government transparency by co-sponsoring legislation like the Federal Reserve Transparency Act and the Free Flow of Information Act.

As governor, I'll make state government more responsive and open, building on my consistent record of championing transparency and constituent service.
